ITINERARY:

Get ready to enjoy a fun, educational, and awe-inspiring 14-hour tour to the Grand Canyon including a stop on the Navajo Reservation. After a complimentary pick up from most central Phoenix and Scottsdale hotels you will start your route north. Gain over a mile in altitude between the mighty saguaro of the Sonoran Desert Phoenix area (1,117 feet) up to the Colorado Plateau with its majestic Ponderosa Pines (7,000 feet). The many changes in scenery and weather will amaze you.

On the way, there will be a rest break at the geographic center of Arizona, the Verde Valley, with its picturesque landscape. Next, ascend to the plateau of Sunset Point and enjoy the scenery while your guide continues to give you information and answers your questions. Driving through Flagstaff you will pass by a section of the famous Route 66. Next on up to the Navajo Reservation for a lunch stop in Cameron Arizona. You will have time for shopping and taking in the views of the Little Colorado River Gorge.

Now what you've been waiting for, the Grand Canyon National Park! You will have multiple viewing and photo opportunities, (including some fantastic selfie moments) at the South Rim. You will be touring with your guide 26 miles along the south rim with stops at several viewpoints including Desert View Watchtower and Grand Canyon Village with Mary Colter's Hopi House. During the 3 to 3 ½ hours in the park, see how many species of wildlife you can spot. The Grand Canyon National Park is full of many types of mammals, reptiles, amphibians, and birds. Including endangered birds of prey! Your knowledgeable tour guide is with you the entire journey, providing information and answering any questions you may have, or even taking your picture at the Grand Canyon with your camera for you.

Your return trip will include a 30 minute rest/food stop for fast food before returning you to your pick up location.
